Ventura Man Convicted of Kidnapping and Rape of 17-year-old Unconscious Person

VENTURA, California – Today, District Attorney Gregory D. Totten announced that Gabriel Munoz-Hernandez (DOB 7/1/1998) of Ventura, was convicted of rape of an unconscious person in violation of Penal Code section 261(a)(4) and kidnapping to commit rape or sexual penetration in violation of Penal Code section 209(b)(1).

On February 20, 2017, Munoz-Hernandez contacted the 17-year-old female victim on Facebook. The next day, Munoz-Hernandez met the victim in person and took her to a friend's home where he encouraged her to drink alcohol. The victim eventually lost consciousness. After the victim lost consciousness, Munoz-Hernandez carried her to a dumpster enclosure nearby where he raped her. An independent witness, who attempted to intervene, was able to capture some of the assault on camera. Another independent witness called 911. Ventura Police officers quickly arrived on scene to find Munoz-Hernandez assaulting the unconscious victim behind the dumpster.

The sentencing hearing is March 6, 2018, at 9:00 a.m. in courtroom 25 of the Ventura Superior Court, County of Ventura. Munoz-Hernandez may be sentenced to 15 years to life in the California Department of Corrections.
